

Extend your vegie harvest!

A common problem with growing vegetables and fruit is that you end up with the whole crop maturing at the same time.

Spread out your harvest period by planting seedlings every couple of weeks throughout the whole planting season.

That way you'll be able to harvest for much longer and avoid the issue of deciding what to do with the excess vegetables.

For more home grown
ideas visit www.oasishorticulture.com.au

oasis[®]
create your own

healthy lifestyle > healthy eating > part of your life